The Work of Fire Bugs at Agricultural Park.

The Stable Fired in Three Places, and Several Fine Horses Burned.

Band of Pickpockets Do Up Agricultural Park in Good Shape. er Stood Up by Footpads—The Sad Story e Effe Smith as Told at the Coroner's

Coroner Meredith held an inquest yester-day morning on the body of Effic Smith, who, was burned in her bed at a house of ill-fame on Los Angeles street, Wednesday light.

The following is the testimony elicited: The following is the testimony elicited:
Mary Dupuy testified: I keep a lodginghouse on Los Angeles street, in which deceased had a room. Day before yesterday she was very drunk. She drank a great deal very often. Yesterday morning her man showed me a powder which he said was quinine. He said he would give it to her, and she would soon get better. About a quarter to 8 last night, I smelled something burning and sent a man to her room to see what it was. I did not go in then, but when I went to her room a little while afterward, the deceased was already dead. thing burning and sent a man to her room to see what it was. I did not go in then, but when I went to her room a little while afterward, the deceased was already dead. Thomas McDonald testified: The true name of the deceased was Effe Smith. She was a married woman, but did not live with her husband. She had not been divorced. She had been drinking hard for several days. She sent for me Tuesday night, and I staid with her all that night and all day yesterday, until about 6 o'clock. She wauted wothing but water to drink, and could not keep that on her stowach. I told her she had been using morphine; she said no, but I found a box on her table which contained something that I thought was morphine. I went out and got 10 cents worth of quinine for her. She smoked a great many cigarettes, and when she was up in Oregon she smoked opium. There was no light in her room except a lamp on a stand within reach of her bed. I do not think she had any matches. This mark on my face was caused by a bottle which she threw at me. Yes, we quarreled often, but I never struck her.

Thereas Pico was sworn, but had merely seen the light through a window.

Manuel Munyos testified: Have known deceased about six months. About 7:30 o'clock last night Theresa told me there was a fire in deceased's room. I went into the room. Her clothes and bedclothes were on fire. I threw water on the fire and put it eut. She was then dead. She was in the habit of using morphine. Yes, she had a fight with her man a day or two ago, but I did not see it.

To a juro: The lamp was all right when fire the room. Her clothes and bedclothes were on fire. I threw has a day or two ago, but I did not see it.

To a juro: The lamp was all right when fire and in the not have the said of this month. About 8 o'clock last night a lady told me there was a fire in the room. I went into the room, but it was so full of smoke I could not stay, Manuel yous then justified: Have known deceased since the 3d of this month. About 8 o'clock last night, when Mrs. Dupuy called me and to

If he had knocked her down I should probably have known it.

Dr. D. G. McGowan testified: Am a practicing physician and surgeon in Los Angeles. Made an examination of the body of the deceased, which showed it to be that of a woman about 30 years of age. Had the appearance of the body of a person addicted to dissipation. Upon the forearms are marks such as are usually made by a hypodermic syringe. The skin about the mouth, over the fore jart of the neck and the front of the chest and abdomen was marked upon the right side, and burned and blackened. Upon cutting through the skin the burned tissue was found to reach the deepest portions of the skin, and even the muscles. Examination of the internal organs revealed noththe skin, and even the muscles. Examination of the internal organs revealed nothing except such a condition as might be expected in the organs of a person who had notitually used drink to excess. An exception to this was the stomach and upper portion of the smaller intestine, which was the seat of an intense congestion or inflamation. This is the usual and often fatal result of extensive burns. Death, in my opinion, was the result of the burns. In accordance with the above testimony the jury rendered a verdict attributing the cause of death to injuries received by burning.

FIRE BUGS.

The Stable at Agricultural Park Fired in Three Places. At about 10:20 o'clock last night the proprietor and occupants of the hotel at the race track were startled by the cry of Fire," and on rushing outside it was dis-sovered that the stables at the south end of Agricultural Park were on tire, and imme-diate-steps were taken to put it out. Just about the time the fire was extinguished at distensives were taken to put it out. Just about the time the fire was extinguished at that point they were apprised by the fiames that section F, situated at the extreme north end of the park, was ablaze, to which point they at once directed their attention, but before their efforts here were successful, a third fire broke out in section G and proved the most serious of the three. In this section were some very valuable horses and some forty or fifty tons of hay. The entire section G was burned with all the hay and their valuable borses. One belonged to Col. Samuels and was worth from $600, to $4000; one was owned by Charles Borsey and was worth from $600, to $1000, and a third belonging to Mr. Hancock was badly burned, but at last accounts still alive and may recover. The loss on the buildings will be about $4000. The fire at the sou hend was first discovered by a helper around the stables called Tom, and from the fact of its breaking out at three different points nearly at the same time shows that it was the work of an incendiary. All those who were around worked hard, and through their united and persistent efforts it is probate that they saved many valuable animals. The total loss will probably reach $10,000.

The Northern Citrus Belt Showing What They Can Do.

One by one the counties of the Northern Citrus Belt are awakening to a realization of the fact that if they would have the advantage of that section made known to the Citrus Beltare awakening to a realization of the fact that if they would have the advantage of that section made known to the world they must come to Los Angeles, which is the objective point of nine out of ten of the thousands of visitors from the East who every year come to the Pacific Const. Placer county is the latest one to swing in line, and will, on Saturday or Monday morning, place on exhibition in one of the stores in the new building at the corner of Spring and Franklin streets samples of the products of that county. The display will be very artistically arranged, and the exhibit will be the largest and most comprehensive ever before attempted in this city by our northern brethren. It will consist of oranges, lemons, limes and other fruits, and gentlemen well posted on the resources of the county will be on hand at all times to give all desired information. The exhibition is given under the auspices of the Placer County Board of Trade, of which J. Parker Whitney of Rockland is president. The committee in charge consists of Messrs. P. W. Butker, J. F. Madden, A. Major, E. W. Mashin, A. Ambroso and J. J. Morrison. The exhibition is free to all, everybody is cordially invited to attend. It will remain open two weeks at least, and may continue some time longer. In conversation with a Times reporter last evening, a member of the committee said: "By coming to Los Augeles, we recognize and acknowledge that this city is the center of eastern immigration. There is no use of denying this, not do we desire to do so. This is certainly a great county, and the climate is the best in the world. But we claim advantages for our section, and we are desirous of putting the past three or four years, and are growing larger every season. In 1885 the first carload of truit was shipped from Newcastle; in 1886, 150 cars, and in 1887 over 500 carloads were shipped east. Shipments were also made from Peuryn, Auburn, Rockland and Loomis. We can raise as fine oranges as any section of the State, and our cherries and other fruits one term's drilling. Before the programme was commenced Prof. Ludium made a few remarks, stating that the pupils who were in the college school of oratory were not yet up to that standard of excellence which he hoped to soon see exhibited by its members. That during this past term but few lessons had been given, and he was glad to notice that nearly all had accomplished fairly well in doing away with the stiff, amateur style of delivery, and exhibited considerable ability both in elecution and the portrayal of their feelings and the character assumed by their gestures and intonation. The manner of the rendition of the different pieces during the entertainment preved that he rather underestimated their abilty. It was a revelation to some of the friends of the members, as they listened to the different recitations, and in every instance the debutante received hearty plaudits.

The following is the programme of the entertainment:

not dead. It is not his fault, however. He made all the nedessry arrangements for the shuffling off of this mortal coil. The enterprise of a messenger boy saved his life. The boy was given a letter one evening to be delivered to Mr. Katz, a particular friend of the would-be suicide. The letter contained the fact that Mawson would be dead ere he received the letter, as he had taken poison. The boy, fortunately for Mawson, took time by the forelock and delivered the letter that evening instead of the next.

morning. Mr. Katz rushed around to the Johnston mansion and found his friend in great agony.

Several doctors were summoned, who arrived just in time to rob Coroner Marredith of another case. It took the doctors two days' hard work to save Mawson's life. The attempted tragedy transpired several days since, and would never have been known outside the few actors, except that a There is the professor of the following letter, which was found by a friend of his at the Johnston mansion. The letter, which is given verbutim of literatins, must evidently have been written to his beloved before taking the poison. Here it is:

I worst the form of the product of the provided his send for my friend Katz, 315 Temple street; tell him we were talking together, and I fell back dead with heart disease; tell him I had complained for several days of pains around my heart, and he will know what to do. In the bottom burean drawer you will find a letter to him. Tell him I wrote it three or four days ago. Oh, my darling, I have tried so hard to make you happy. It was only today that I telegraphed my brother not to come till he received my letter. I did that, as I wished to consult with you in regard to having darling baby and nurse out here, as I knew it would make you very happy to have him with you, and I would move heaven and earth to insure your happiness. My darling, before I go, let me tell you that my last dying breath with I bless you, and may the Almighty forever bless and protect you from all harm. May your future life be all sunshine and happiness. Sometime think of me. Oh, my bird how I love you. I am not capable of showing very strong love, but the inmost feeling is intense. Try and get a picture of yourself, if only a tin type, and put it in my edofin. Good-by, my own precious love. God forever bless you is the fervent prayer of your loving hub and boy.

The above letter was written on two pieces of paper bearing the letter head of Louis Mawson, real-estate dealer, 33 South Spring street. But who was the young lady, was the next question which agitated the mind of the reporter. There was no address on the letter, which could not have reached the person it was intended for, or if so, must have been lost by the lady. After considerable digging the reporter got a slight clue from a backman, and working on it for several days succeeded in locating the young lady at 13 Sepulveda street. It was none other than Zoe Starr. She positively refused to talk about the affair, and pretended that she did not know anything about it. Since the reporter had ascertained the names of both parties, it was a very easy matter to confect the particulars. Zoe Starr is a very pretty blonde, and met Louis about two months ago soon after her arrival in Los Angeles from Boton. He became infatuated with the girl. Miss Starr was a say deceiver, for while professing the greatest lov anss Starr was a gay deceiver, for while professing the greatest love for her Lou, was caught one fine afternoon perambulating the street with another gentleman. That night he threatened to kill himself with a revolver, but she managed to get it away from him and no damage was done. A week after she told him that she was going down to see her friend Downs. He followed her, and not finding his charming Zoe, took poisson. Mr. Mawson's intentions were all right, but the poison wasn't strong enough.

John F. Humphreys, John F. Humphreys, the newly-elected President of the City Council, is now 48 ears of age, and ever since he attained his ajority has taken an active part in politics. majority has taken an active part in politics. He was born in St. Louis, Mo., August 29, 1837, was educated in the common schools of that city, and is a graduate of its university. He was clerk of one of the courts of that city for a number of years, which position he resigned to remove to Leadville, where he was elected Mayor on the Democratic ticket, and was one of the six delegates to the National Democratic Convention which nominated Hanceck for President in 1880. Shortly after his term of office as Mayor expired, Mr. Humphreys, with his family, removed to Los Angeles, where he has since resided. Mr. Humphreys, it is believed, will make a good officer.

His Bondsman.

It will be remembered by readers of The Times, that the defaulting tax collector in Hammond's bondsmen were sued a few days ago. Some of them got together and filed their answer, claiming that they should not be responsible for the whole amount, as Hammond was not required to make a monthly report on the first of every month. Several of the bondsmen, including Mayor. Workman, Gen. Bouton, Al Currier and L. Bigsby, did not join the kickers, and ago willing to pay their pro rata. They informed Hon. S. M. White, who is prosecuting the case for the people, of their determination yesterday, and he took them that they have a perfect right to do so. This will weaken the other bondsmen's defense.

At Terracina.

Yesterday moraing five ear loads of people left Los Angeles to attend the anction sale at Terracina conducted by Easton, Eddidge & Co. Two carloads were taken up on the road. Before the excursion arrived Mr. Easton opened a private sale, and disposed of $25.000 worth of property. Sixty lots were sold in all, making about $30,000.

uncil met in adjourned session yester-morning at 10 o'clock, with President Broed in the chair, and present, Coun-en Lovell, Collins, Perry, Stearns, kenfield, Jones, Willard, Hiller, Goss, I, Johnson, Kuhrts and Gibbs. The minutes of the last session were read approved. During the reading of the minutes the newly-elected members of the Council entered the room and took seats with the audience, which so crowded the benches set apart for their use that standing room was at a premium, many being unable to get into the room.

The Clerk announced that the Mayor had given him notice of the expiration of the street-sprinkling contract, and on motion the matter was referred to the incoming Council.

The report of the Fire Commissioners was then read ond adopted.

The Committee on Bridges reported that the City Surveyor had made an approximate estimate for an iron bridge over the Los Angeles River, and recommended the matter be turned over to the incoming Council. Adopted.

The Chief of Police reported the collection of certain licenses, which was also referred to the incoming Council.

The draft of an ordinance locating a portion of Soto street was then read, and City Attorney Daly reported that the line of Soto street had been changed, and that Mr. Hostetter had offered a deed to the street, as located, in return for a quit-claim deed from the city for the old location. The rule as regarded printing was then on motion suspended and the ordinance adopted, the deed from Mr. Hostetter being accepted and the Cierk instructed to file the same for record. On motion the Mayor was instructed to sign, the quit-claim deed to Mr. Hostetter.

President Breed, before putting this motion, said:
"Gentlemen of the Council: Before we adjourn I would like to express my heart-felt thanks to you all, and also to the Clerk of the Council, for the uniform courtesy with which you have treated me since I have held this position as your president. While it may be we have had some little differences of opinion in the past, we have, as a general rule, got along very pleasantly together, and I am sure that the outgoing Council in its labors for the welfare of the city will compare very favorably with that of any previous Council. It is moved and seconded that we now adjourn."

The motion being carried, the old Council then vacated their seats, and the Clerk, taking the chair, called upon the clerk, taking the chair, called upon the newly-elected members to take their respective positions. They were then requested to name a temporary chairman, and Mr. Bosbyshell was unanimously chosen for the position. the unanimous choice of the Council, and the Clerk cast the vote of that body accordingly.

The newly-elected President was then escorted to the chair, and having called the Council to order, said:

"Gentlemen: I thank you for this honor, and sincerely hope that our relations will be entirely harmonious. There is a very large amount of work before us to be disposed of, and I trust that we will not be found among those who sit around on drygoods boxes and deliberate over what they will do next season. We want to keep the business of the city so far ahead that in no instance will we be compelled to drive off to the rainy season when he streets are covered with mud, the work of repairing them, and so make more mud just at the time when the city is crowded with visitors from the East, and we would especially wish to have our beautiful town looking at its best. Neither do we want to put off the laying of sewers and other pipes under our streets until they are all paved, and so have to fear the paving up after it is properly laid. We have a great deal of work before us and must do it. Gentlemen, what is your further pleasure?"

Councilman Cohn then moved to adjourn till next Monday at 10 a.m., and the motion was just being put when the Clerk announced that the street sprinkling contract had almost expired, and it was necessary to take action at once. On motion, the Clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, and Mr. Cohn's motion was then put, and being carried, the Council Mjourned.

Shirley Dare in the November issue of the Cosmopolitan, has a notable article entitled, "A Brighter Hope for Women." The argument of the article is for the application of the coöperative principle of the convent to secular homes for women. She begins by saying that the abundant opportunities for education that women now have, are largely nullified by the difficulties which women find, when, after having secured the training, they attempt to put it to practical purpose in earning their living. They find that all avenues of labor are over-crowded, that in endeavoring to dispose of their work, single-handed, they are continually the prey of sharpers; having no capital, they cannot improve the quality of their work and wait for rewards, and the increased expense of living in cities—the only place where they find any market for their work—makes life for them one long struggle for the bare privilege of existence. Add to this the lack of the one great essential to woman's happiness, protection, and we have, according to this writer, in the cultivated woman who earns her own living, the most pitiable object on earth.

For the remedy for this state of things our writer goes back to the medieval times and takes the conventual idea. This gave women the advantage of protection and all the good that cannot but come from associated effort. She calls to mind the communities of later times as additional examples of the value of coöperation. These associations have generally had a religious idea for a basis, but this is not essential, and the business successes of the Shaker communities prove wherein the primary advantage of the working community can be secured. The idea of the old convent, therefore, it is proposed to embody in "Country Homes for Women."

"The plan," says Mrs. Power, "is simple, but comprehensive, A dwelling-house, with dormitories, studios, and workshops, gardens, orchard and green-house, poultry yard and apiary, is to become the home of dependent women of good behavior, refinement and intelligence. There the women dream of and never find, if she chooses to remain and pay for it in work or money, at the lowest cost, "A girl or woman of uncertain age, without income, as yet untrained to business of any sort, presents herself; just two conditions are required—good behavior of a sort to be acceptable to other ladies, and willingness to work. She finds a quiet, attractive country house; no; at all like an institution, near a rural station, in easy reach of city lessons, markets and salesrooms. She has a room with closet, simply and comfortably fitted, well ventilated, and warmed in winter. The large sitting-room and diningwell ventilated, and warmed in winter. The large sitting-room and dining-room are what they would be in a well-ordered family—charming as artistic taste can make inexpensive furnishing, with windows full of flowers, and telling decorative touches. "A choice library and music are matters of course; a resident doctor is not so often found, though necessary in a household of though necessary in a household of women. Attic studios are shared by artists, a sunny workshop with latticed casements, planing-bench, lathe and joiners' tools ranking as much a studio as any of them, and one of the most profitable?"

which is not to be lest sight of, and which guards against all weakening of moral fiber, is that benefits are to be scrupulously paid for in money or work, and that of no indifferent sort. Such a house is the last place where a fribble, or viewy, useless enthusiast will find herself at home. It is possible that such a one, seeing the pleasure of well-ordered, busy lives would be shamed out of her uselessnesspand take life in earnest. It is more than likely that a serene, healthful existence, with steady, not burdensome, duties would cure meager souls of their vapors and hysterical tendencies, and bring women to a saner, sweeter experience than their present ideals.

"If such a protectory offers women more for their labor than they can receive in any other way, it is no more than can be carried out by wise administration. Country homes, giving women the benefit of pure air, in reach of the city for business advantages, cost one-tenth that the same accommodation would in town. The gardens offer the best work for many women, especially school-teachers desiring change of occupation, and it is the suggestion of a worn-out teacher that gave prominence to this part of the scheme.

"Careful estimates for buildings, cost of Hving and instruction prove that twenty-five women and over can teacher that gave prominence to this part of the scheme.

"Careful estimates for buildings, cost of Hying and instruction prove that twenty-five women and over can be provided with the best training and every comfort essential to a refined person, including medical care in common ailments, for less than $200 a year. No woman alone can command such advantages for twice the sum, and when this is paid, not by her unassisted earnings alone, but by her saleable work, the assurance of comfort and shelter is beyond price. The protectory desires to assure women that whoseever will work shall eat and share the good of the land. No institution fare is contemplated, but a scale of living that will compare with that of the best women's colleges. Good living in every sense is the foundation idea of those country communities for women.

"This is no mere fancy sketch. A convent, a convening in its real meaning, without rigor, whose piety betrays itself in goodworks, a community where personal rights are sacred and distinct, are things not impossible in this age of the world. Nor is the world without notable thrift which yet masks the angles of its stair-cases—with flowers and delights in soft colors and dainty linen sweet with lavender; which can be generous as well as frugal in the right place. Nor is it wantung in that essence of ladyhood and Christianity that makes it possible even for women to live together, not in any strained pretense of homes or sisterhoods, but in the courtesy, fairness and honor that knits strangers together and gives the only true home feeling after we leave our mother's knee. Is humanity, is womanhood, too poor for such community of needs and heip?"

A Great Scheme Los ANGELES, Dec. 12 .- [To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Every once in awhile reports reach us from far-off New Zealand that that country is beall exertions and great expenses to abate the nuisance have proven unavailing. The New Zealanders have tried traps, powder, cold poison, and others means to rid themselves of the pest. Still, the rabbits nold the fort, and, more, keep on increasing, and are even driving off the farmers with their stock, and everything else. Their government has spent large amounts to aid the settlers to rid themselves of the pest, without success, and, I understand, has offered a large reward for the discovery of "ways and means" to accomplish the desired object. I have no hopes of receiving any feward, I though that would come in good time and place, but if our neighbors in the great Pacific would agree and guarantee to pay all expenses I would guarantee to that we could put them on the track of "how to do away with rabbits," be thye ever so many.

The money being comeatable, I would insert in your valued, wide and well-spread paper, an advertisement in good "phat" type, equaling some of your real estate "ads," as follows:

OUR ANNUAL TRADE NUMBER.

The Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES to be issued January 1, f888, will be paper of sixteen large folio pages (instead of thirty-two small quarto pages, as originally announced), with a guaran teed circulation of 20,000 copies. It will b devoted to the progress of Southern Callfornia during the year drawing to a close, and will give a general résumé of the re sources and advantages of this portion of the State. It will be a meaty production In the matter of facts presented, and will also contain a number of Illustrations.

Advertisements and business reading no tices, to secure insertion in this number must be in hand early, as the work of print ing the first forms has already begun. An agent of THE TIMES will wait upon business men and solicit their favors.

STATISTICS OF BUILDING.

In the Annual Trade Number of Tue TIMES, to be issued January 1, 1888, it is red to present as full statistics as possible of the building operations in Los Angeles during the year now drawing to a close Unfortunately, there is no official record of these new structures, as the city government has no superintendent of buildings The lists furnished by the architects con prehend only the more important edifices and are notably incomplete. THE TIMES herefore appeals directly to owners and builders, requesting that each furnish a concise statement of any building or buildings erected for him, or by him, during the year. The statement should embrace following facts:

- 2. Character of building, whether of brick or stone, residence or business house.
- 3. Number of stories.
- 4. Number of apartments 5. Cost and location.
- It is for the interest of all that an ade quate showing be made of this phase of the city's progress, and we therefore request the cooperation of all who have had to do with house-building.

"Line Upon Line."

"Line upon line and precept upon precept" is sometimes a good rule to adhere to, particularly when discuss-regard to the high and constantly ad-few words more upon this subject, so important to the continued growth and prosperity of Los Angeles. The generally-accepted business axiom that "prices should be regulated by the demand" is not always a wise principle to be governed by. The demand for houses to rent is just now greater than the supply here in Los Angeles and rents have in consequence rapidly advanced, until comfort well-to-do at the East, are $75 per month for ordinary six and seven-room cottages they are demand-ing a price that the industrial portion of the community, those who are only fairly well off, cannot afford to pay.

They are also demanding a percentage upon their investments such as they would never think of demanding for cash loads, a rate of interest that would, if general in any community, paralyze all business and destroy all commercial prosperity.

This taking undue advantage of the necessities of people is not a good thing for the general public welfare. The idea of taking all that it is possible to get is not a wise plan of action. People object to being bled, and if this bleeding process is kept up it will have a tendency to retard our future pros-perity. Thirty, $40, $50 or $60 for a furnished room may fill the purse of the room-renter very rapidly for a few months, but the result will be a little later, no demand for rooms at any price, consequently a general loss in the net results in the end.

This craze to make money rapidly, to get the most that is possible out of the "boom," is not a healthy state of feeling. There are other and more important things to be considered. First of all, we should not lose sight of why the prosperous growth which we are now witnessing should not con-tinue. All of the conditions which have induced our wonderful advance still continue, and there will be nothing to check this advance but our own s, the tradesme

folly. But if the industrial classes who and merchants and the business mer

GRAND OPERA-House .- Love and Lo a melodrama in four acts, was presented for the first time before a Los Angeles audience last night by Milton Nobles and company. The play is some better than the general run of its class, and is given in the general run of its class, and is given in a very satisfactory manner. It has numerous strong points, and furnishes abundant opportunity for the display of the peculiar talents of the principal performers. The "Felix O'Paff," the New York lawyer, as portrayed by Mr. Nobles, was a very clever piece of character acting, as was also the 'Ritta' of Mrs. Nobles. The support was fair throughout, only Louis F. Howard as "Corti," the Italian organ-grinder, being deserving of special mention. There was only a moderate attendance. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—[Special.] Another controversy has originated out of the Benson land fraud cases. D. M. Del mas and Zach Montgomery have recently been appointed by Attorney-General Garland to assist United States District Attorney-Care in the presenting of Benson and land to assist United States District Attor-ney Carey in the prosecution of Benson and others implicated with him. Whether Carey and his friends feel nettled at Gar-land's apparent want of confidence in him or because Delmas and Montgomery are really improper persons to assist Carey in these cases is not yet clear. Certain it is that John P. Irish, editor of the Alta Cali-that John P. Irish, editor of the Alta California, in a letter to Attorney-General Garland, thought necessary to write in a manner most uncomplimentary and denunciatory concerning the Government appointés. The following are some of the passages:

"He (Montgomery) knew that Delmas never won other than minor cases in this State. I will not say that Montgomery knew that Delmas was not a lawyer but superficial rhetorician, for Montgomery has been the standing jest and laughing stock of the California bar for his dense ignorance of law and its principles, as well as of the ethetics and good manners which belong to the practice and its practitioners. Leaving of law and its principles, as well as of the ethetics and good manners which belong to the practice and its practitioners. Leaving his malice and his ignorance aside, I submit to your judgment and to your sense of fair treatment the question of the propriety of passing over the whole bar of this State to select the very viper of the profession in full knowledge of his relation to the judges and to the District Attorney. The effect of this appointment upon the politics of our State will be disastrous. Delmas was the author of the Stockton platform that lost us the State in 1884. Gov. Stoneman pitchforked him into prominence in time to cost us hard money and the success of the party then, and you have lifted him time to cost us hard money and the success of the party then, and you have lifted him from obscurity again in time to repeat the performance in 1888. Why we should be cursed with Montgomery, and Delmas is a mystery inscrutable. I know there may be a faint plea made upon the necessity of a strong prosecution, but all this I answer by saying that no honorable man would accept the appointment under the circumstances in which Delmas found himself. No honorable man would have urged it in Montgomble man would have urged it in Montgomwhich Delmas found himself. No honorable man would have urged it in Montgomery's place, and no faithful public officer, recalled as Chaimers was by Montgomery's telegram from the assignation with Delmas at Los Angeles, would have acquiesced in relations between Delmas and the District Attorney. You know, as a lawyer, that a prosecution so planned is sure to be weak, and I tell you it will end in disaster."

As to the aspersions sought to be cast upon him by Irish's letter, Delmas today said he would not lower himself to notice them, and that he was introduced to Chalmers in Los Angeles while on the way to the depot, and that three minutes' conversation was all he had ever had with the man.

Gen. Carey would not state a word in eference to the letter, but said he might have something to say at the proper time

By Telegraph to The Times.

NOGALES (Ariz.), Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Word is received of a fight between troops under Gen. Logeros and several Bernal renegades, resulting in some wounded on both sides. Logeros captured Bicuri, one of Bernal's band, and rescued Bernardina Barraga, a young lady residing at Otacz, who was carried off by the bandit gang. Bicuri refused to divulge Bernal's hiding-place and was shot. On the fifth day the parties under Berra and Merraz came together without seeing a trail of the supposed hedged-in desperadoes. After two days' search they found where a party of about twenty-five, supposed to be Bernal's gang, left the mountains.

A courier is just in from Boca del Potrer the military headquarters, with dispatches from the Prefect of Otaez giving details of the capture of the town and car off of Miss Barraga by Bernal. The off of Miss Barraga by Bernal. The Prefect says the troops were hardly two days gone when Bernal, with twenty-five men, descended upon the town from the direction of the Tulare Mountains, and began shooting upon reaching the suburbs, terrifying the people, who barricaded their houses. Bernal threatened to nail the Prefect to the wall by the ears in case of a demonstration. Bernal then went to the house of Miss Barraga, whom he forced to mount a horse. The men then sacked the stores. After holding the town four hours, the bandits rode away with Miss Barraga.

It is believed by the troops that the reason of Bernal's escape at the Tulare Range was the assistance of citizens who volunteered to help troops having a prior arrangement with Bernal. A scouting party, sent to Clencia and now, at Chacola, found three men Supposed to belong to Bernal's band, and shot them.

Fruit-Growers Charge the Railways with Bad Faith.

San Francisco, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Fruit-growers claim that the rates east are practically prohibitory and unless they are reduced say they will not send fruit to New York next season. It is stated that of 1200 carloads shipped east the California Fruit Union shipped 751 cars, the remainder were sent by independent shippers at #625 a car, a rate of nearly 4 cents a pound net. This is considered by the growers an exorbitant charge. The fruit-growers claim that the railroads have not kept their promise of favorable rates. They asked for a $300 rate to Chicago when then cars started at once from Sacramento, and a $400 rate for one or more cars that would be shipped from such trains to beyond Chicago. This was promised, but never given.

Coming for the Boom.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—Edgar Briggs, representative of the State Board of Trade, left this afternoon for Los Angeles, where, in a course of lectures, he will endeavor to convince the eastern people who throng the city of the advantagas of Central and Northern California as citras-growing regions.

"There are twenty thousand more colored men than white in Mississippi. Not less than one-third of the whites vote the Republican ticket, and no more than one tenth of the blacks vote the Democratic ticket. Yet the State is always surely Democratic. They go through the forms of election down there, but as soon as the Democratic conventions are over the polls are closed. Sometimes there is difficulty in getting Democrats to falsify returns. When frustrated in this way they sometimes resort to violence. These frauds are perpetured mainly because the general sentiment of the country tolerates them. Until the people of the North get their eyes open these thirgs will continue in the South."

The speaker's idea of a remedy was to reduce the representation of the Southern States. Then if the colored men could not be represented they would have the satisfaction of knowing that their vote was not going to the enemy. Congressmen represent the colored men who are virtually distranchised.

How a Book-keeper Embezzled Over

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Joseph Knight, book-keeper of the Manufacturers' National Bank, was taken before United States Commissioner Edwards this afternoon, charged with stealing from the funds of the bank between 80,000 and $70,000. It is said that Knight has been appropriating to his own use the hank's money for nearly twenty-five years.

Mr Knight was book-knamer of the Manual Mr. Knight was book-keeper of the Manu-tacturers' National Bank for thirty-five years and has always been considered a trustworthy man. John W. Maffly, president of the bank, said that he first discovered that the books were being faisified on the 9th of this month, the balance sheet not coming out correctly within about $20,000.

SENSATION IN A THEATER.

A Young Lady Descendant of Cal-houn Becomes Violently Insane, Washington, Dec. 15.—[By the Asso-siated Press.] During the performance of Article 47, by Clara Morris, at the Grand Opera-house tonight, Annie Horton, a great-granddaughter of John C. Calhoun, an emgrandaughter of John C. Calhoun, an employé in the Postoffice Department, became violently insane during the scene in which 'Cora'' is shot by "George Duhamel." Five or six years ago Miss Horton fired several shots at George Morgan, a son of Senator Morgan of Alabama, and it is thought that the scene on the stage recalled the affair so vividly as to unbalance her mind.

A New Deal in the Houston and Texas Central Hoad.

New York, Dec. 15.—|By the Associated Press.| At a meeting of the general mortgage bondholders of the Houston and Texas Central Rallroad Company today there were nearly $2,000,000 of bonds represented. A committee of the bondholders submitted an agreement entered into by the committee on the part of the bondholders with the Southern Pacific Company for the with the Southern Pacific Company for the purpose of affecting a reorganization. By unanimous vote the agreement was ratified. It embraces a plan of reorganization by which all existing mortgages, with the possible exception of those upon the Waco and Northwestern division, as to be fore and Northwestern division, as to be fore closed and a new company organized, which shall acquire all the property and franchises are to run fifty years from July 1, 1897.

Five per cent. Interest is guaranteed by the flouthern Pacific Company. A syndicate will be formed, if necessary, for the purpose of facilitating the conversion of the sutstanding bonds and carrying out the plan of reorganization.

Sudden Death of the Governor of Maine.

HALLOWELL (Me.), Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Gov. Bodwell died this morning. Death was caused by congestion of the lungs, brought on by exposure and overwork. Gov. Bodwell's death was very sudden and unexpected, as it was believed that he was on the road to recovery. He had slept during the night. Shortly after 5 o'clock this morning he awoke and asked his nephew to put him in his chair. It was no sooner done than he expired. S. S. Marbie, President of the Senate, is Chief Magistrate of the State.

This were not been to concert the clubs into permanent organizations. We must get down to business at one and a vice pression of the convention adjourned untitomorrow morning.

A number of secretaries were then chosen, and a vice-president of reads and a vice of the sensite of the state.

Bread is the cry of thousands who are on the river banks. The benevolent go in boats and throw bread among the masses here and there, but it is nothing compared with the requirements. The mass of people is still being increased by continual arrivats, who are even more hungry than the last. There they sit, stunned, hungry and dejected, without a rag to wear or morsel to eat. Mat huts are being erected for them to the west of this, but what their condition will be in a short time no one can tell.

Yellow River has long been known as "China's sorrow" and the present disaster has served to reassert its right to the terrible title. As yet details of the disaster are very meager. It has occurred in a district where but few Chinamen are, and the reports furnished by officials and published in the Pekin Gazette convey a very inadequate idea of the extent of the loss of life and property, and the suffering of the survivors. The government in Honan reports to the throne:

"Nearly all the people have been drowned in the district reached ly the water, the survivors being those who escaped to high ground or took refuge in the research."

NINE HUNDRED VILLAGES DESTROYED.

NINE HUNDRED VILLAGES DESTROYED This gives but little impression as to the extent of the disaster. The Chinese Times states that in the province of Pochili, where states that in the province of Pochili, where disastrous inundations have also occurred, there are 270,000 people homeless, representing those whose lives were saved out of fully 900 villages destroyed. The paper adds that the misery in that province is trifling, compared with that caused by the Hoang Ho Yellow River. The extent swept over by the overwhelming floods, given in English figures, is over 7000 square miles, and the land thus submerged formed part of one of the richest and most densely populated places in Northern China. The necessity for liberal aid may therefore be imagined. Already considerable sums have been contributed toward the relief of the sufferers.

Charles H. Robinson, son of the prisoner, testified that Dr. Beers gave him a lot of powders for Lizzle, his sister, and that he gave Willie some white pills. The witness refused to take them when requested to do so by Beers.

Mrs. Robinson then took the stand. She said that Willie had told her he had lent Dr. Beers 4000 or 8500 and had the latter note for it. She said she never at any time administered the drug to her son, and did not know its appearance or properties.

There will be a meeting of Acacia Chapter No. 21, O.E.S., tomorrow evening. It will not be a special meeting.

Garratt, one of the railroadmen who was so badly injured on the gravel train smashup last Sunday evening, was slightly improved yesterday.

The valise presumed to have been stolen, and which was left in the waiting-room at the Santa Fé depot, still remains unclaimed, and is in the hands of the baggage-acent.

John G. Young, a restaurant cook, called at the police station yesterday morning, and said he was taking a drink in a saloon, when a couple of special police officers knocked him down and attempted to rooh him.

Coroner Meredith was notified yesterday of the sudden death of an old Frenchman, a cook, near the Clenega, three or four miles below town. An inquest will be held today. It is supposed that he died of heart disease.

S. C. Sawyer, a young man, came to this State from Maine a week ago and took up his home in Lordsburg. It was soon learned that he was a raving maniac. He was lodged in the County Jail yesterday afternoon, and will be examined by a commission of lunacy today.

Woman's Relief Corps Woman's Relief Corps.

Mrs. Jarley has arrived with her celebrated wax figures, and will exhibit them for the first time at the entertainment given by Frank Bartlett Relief Corps at Armory Hall, Saturday evening, December 17th. Prof. Winn C. Stone furnishes music for the dance, and Mrs. Jarley will participate. During the evening there will be some grand military tableaux presented.

Slightly Frightened.

A lively runaway occurred near the new Southern Pacific depot yesterday morning, and was cleverly stopped by a boy about 15 or 16 years of age. A Chinaman, the owner of the rig, rewarded the boy munificently in the sum of 50 cents, and then drove rapidly away from the vicinity, fearing the police would take him in for violating the hitching ordinance.

THE OLD WORLD.

Russia Gives an Official Explanation

Of Her Recent Military Manœuvers of the Frontier.

The Czar Professes to Be Acting Only on the Defensive.

Yote in the Chamber—The German Crown Prince's Condition Hopeful—Other Old World News,

By Telegraph to The Times*
St. Petersburg, Dec. 15.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The official Military Gazette says: "Owing to the alarm raised by the Austrian press, in consequence of the transfer of some Russian cavalry to the Warsaw district, it is advisable to consider the military position of Russia and sider the military position of Russia and her western-frontier neighbors in order to throw light upon the question, Who is really preparing for attack and defense?" After enumerating in detail the increase in effectiveness of the German and Austrian armies during the past five years it can in effectiveness of the German and Austrian armies during the past five years, it says:

"All these preparations are meaningless except in view of the offensive tactics, which show that Austria, under the semblance of defense, is at the same time preparing to invade Russia simultaneously with her ally. But what is Russia doing in view of her neighbors, thestening preparations? Notwith. knasia simultaneously with her ally. But what is Russia doing in view of her neighbors' threatening preparations? Notwithstanding the manifest danger, Russia considers that a Euroropean war would be a terrible misfortune to all mankind. She it was who, amid her neighbors' feverish armament, did not increase, but decreased, her defensive forces. The peace effective force of the Russian army is 75,000 less than in 1881, while her neighbors, in the same period, have raised theirs the same amount. The most effective measure against the danger would be the extension of the Russian railway system to the proportions of those of our neighbors, but as this requires time and money, the only course is to increase the troops on the frontier. The transfer of a few cavalry regiments on the Vistula might be made a pretext 'to excite the press to charge Russia with warlike intention, but German and Austrian military authorities understand the defensive character of this measure. They can calculate how many corps Russia will have to send to the frontier while peace is undisturbed, so that after a concentration at any given point the forces and means at her disposal mirht suffice to place Russia on an equality with her opponents. Russia has an undoubted right to provide for her defeuse."

VIENNA, Dec. 15.—The article which appeared in the 'St. Petersburg Military Gazette today on the military movements of Russia and her neighbors has excited great attention here. In official circles the opinion is expressed that the article will cause no change in the attitude of Austria. The Government, before taking actively responsive measures of offense, will wait to see whether Russia continues her threatening military preparations.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

SAN REMO, Dec. 15.—Drs. Schrauder, Krauss and Hovell have issued a bulletin concerning the condition of the Crown Prince, in which they say that during the last few weeks inflammatory symptoms in the larynx have entirely disappeared. The surface itself appears to be partly cicatrized and partly covered with a flat growth, which has a tendency to increase. The patient's general condition is undistured.

SAN REMO, Dec. 15.—After examining the Crown Prince's throat today, Dr. Mac-Kenzle declared that he found no dangerous symptoms.

knowledge of cooking, but she bought a cook-book and made an earnest effort to overcome her deficiencies.

"I wish you would make a lemon pie for dinner. My mother used to make such nice lemon pie," said Mr. Saunders one day.

"Well, if you want any temon pies you can get your mother to make them for you; I'll not do it," she replied warmly.

"Why, I am surprised to hear you talk that way."

"I don't care if you are surprised. I'm not going to burn myself up for nobody. I was reading the recipe in the cook-book yesterday, and it winds up, "Then sit on a hot stove and stir constantly.' I expect almost anybody would stir constantly while sitting on a hot stove, but I'm not going to make any experiments. Catch me sitting on a hot stove!"

To Cure Blight. A reliable farmer, writing to an agricultural journal, says if you bore a quarter of an inch hole into the heart of a tree that is infected with insects, and inject as much dry, common sulphur as possible, then insert a short plug to keep the sulphur in place, it will cure blight, make the tree strong and healthy, and in no way injure it. This is a very valuable boon to fruit growers.

Hotel Del Coronado.

One of the features of the great Hotel del Coronado, San Diego, that will be sure to attract attention will be, the floors of the main corridor and music-room. These grand apartments are to be paved with onyx. The material is to be quarried from a mountain near Colton, and, when completed, it is safe to say there will be no more beautiful flooring in any, building in the United States, if in the world.

Outside property will advance rapidly, and those who buy now at bedrock prices will not only reap the benefit of all improvements that go to enhance values, but will get full advantage of owners' advances which will occur from time to time during the winter.

We start this new town off with the following advantages: It is only four miles from the city.

The Southern Pacific Railroad runs through the tract, and depot and side tracks will be built at once.

The Los Angeles and Glendale Motor Railroad, now about completed, runs within 600 feet of this townsite. The Pasadena Boulevard, now an assured fact, is laid out immediately through the center of the tract. The San Fernando County Road runs along the north line. There is no finer valley in Southern California. Abundance of water, good mountain air. Parties desiring cheap suburban homes, with rapid and frequent communication with the city, cannot do better than to buy here. Thousands of people will be here this fall seeking homes, and will overflow to outside points for lack of accommodations. Remember how outside property advanced last winter and profit by the experience. Buy early. Free carriage from my office for Minneapolis at 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Park to Witness the Big Race— Anderson Wins in Less Than Two Hours—Shell Games Running.

A crowd of about 2500 people assembled at Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon at Agricultural Para-yesterday interaloon to witness the fifty-mile race between C. M. Anderson and Card Pugh. At least, this was the principal attraction, although the programme announced that the enter-ainment was to begin with a "great trotting race, between Harry Velox, Phil Philess and Terra Cotta."

The cicleck was the hour announced for Two o'clock was the hour announced for the beginning of the race, but it was 3 o'clock before the judge called for the ses for the fifty-mile race, nothing being aid about the trotting race. By this time o'clock before the judge called for the horses for the fifty-mile race, nothing being said about the trotting race. By this time the crowd had become somewhat impatient, and the extra hour of waiting took considerable of the enthusiasm out of the people which might have otherwise been manifested, but was conspicuously absent throughout the race. Pool selling favored Pugh by about 10 to 7.

At twenty-five minutes past 3 o'clock Pugh walked on the track dressed in a yellow cap and jacket, loose pants and bare hands. Five minutes later, his seven or eight horses (each rider being limited to ten horses) were led in, a rather ordinary looking lot of mustangs, that were greeted with derisive remarks by the crowd. At 3:30 Anderson appeared in green cap and jacket, white tights and gloves, and when his horses were led out the contrast between them and the stock of Pugh was noted by every one. There were some thoroughbreds among them, and their superiority was noticeable throughout the race. The start was made at 3:38 o'clock, with Anderson in the lead. Pugh soon overtook him, however, and on the second mile had a good lead. Anderson lost a few seconds in the mount on the third mile, the horse breaking away from the hostler. On the next mount also he lost time, the horse flying back before Anderson could reach him. At the end of the fifth mile Pugh had twenty seconds start. Anderson's deliberation in mounting was so noticeable as to cause general comment, the cause being attributed to his confidence in his stock. The tenth mile was finished at three minutes past 4, with Pugh twelve seconds ahead. Pugh gained a cheer from the crowd on this mount. As he lit on the crupper he started off at full speed and climbed into the saddle as he fiew by.

Anderson passed Pugh on the thirteenth mile, but the latter gained on the start of the fourteenth. Anderson walked several yards in getting a mount in starting the fifteenth mile was ended at 4:30 o'clock with Pagh 10 seconds ahead. Pugh saled. In ethirteeth mile was finished at 4:5

ended at 4:39 o'clock with Anderson 28 seconds ahead.

The thirtieth mile was finished at 4:51 o'clock, Anderson being half a mile ahead. He missed his stirrups in the mount on the thirty-second mile, pulled up to gain them, and at the end of the thirty-fifth mile only led Pugh a quarter mile. Up to this time the race was apparently a close one, and Pugh's admirers began to think that possibly there was more "go" in his horses than they had credited them with possessing, but the little man from San Bernardino began to show now that he had lost faith either in himself or his animals, for he began to lag at the changes. The fortieth mile ended at 5:16 o'clock, Anderson coming in in good style, apparently as began to lag at the changes. The fortieth mile ended at 5:16 o'clock, Anderson coming in in good style, apparently as fresh as in the beginning. Until he entered upon this mile, however, no one thought of Push giving up, but it was now evident, from the leisurely pace at which he rode in, a mile behind, that the race was at an end. Happing in front of the stand Pugh called out to the judge that he gave up the race. Anderson, just mounted on a fresh horse, turned and stopped with him. Pugh explained to his friends, who at once surrounded him, that it was useless to urge the horses any further; that they had done their best and night as well give up. Both riders then received the congratulations of their friends, Anderson on his complete success and Pugh on the sure-footed, cat-like quickness with which he made his changes.

The judge then announced the race as belonging to Mr. Anderson, and the crowd dispersed, good-natured but not enthusiastic.

Burned Out. yesterday morning Mrs. M. J. who resided in a little frame house on State street, just back of the Second-street Park, arose and made a fire in her kitchen stove. She left her little daughter to watch the fire, and had not been out of the house but a few minutes, when she roticed that the house was on fire. She gave the alarm and several neighbors came to her assistance, and all that could be done was done to save the house. But all in vain, for the building burned like tinder, and it burned to the ground before anything could be taken out. The loss was total, as the poor woman had not taken out an insurance policy. The house, clothing and furniture was valued at $1000. house on State street, just back of the Sec

The Native Daughters.
A meeting of La Esperaza Parlor No.
24, N.D.G.W., will be held this evening in the Opera Hall, over the Grand Opera-house. A large number of candidates are awaiting initiation, and the members report new applications coming in very rapidly. Los Angeles Parlor 45, N.G.S.W., decided to give a public installation and keep on Wednesday evening, January 4th, on which coasion the Native Daughters will be their guesta. It will be a strictly invitation affair, and a pleasant time will be had by all who are fortunate enough to secure invitations.

Winning Women at Work.
Misses Emma R. and Jennie A. Bristol, late from Kansas, have commenced business in this city as real-estate and invest-ment agents, under the firm name of Bristol Sisters, with offices in the California Bank building, corner of Fort and Second streets. The Misses Bristol, are bright, intelligent, business women, who come well recom-mended, and will doubtless make their in-fluence felt in the real estate and financial markets of the city.

A Concert.

A first-class concert is to be given in the Boyle Heights M. E. Church on Friday evening, the 16th inst. Miss Ida Collins and Henry Howard, as vocalists; Miss Fannie Tarr, elocutionist, and Miss Loule Wright, planist, assisted by several other performers, insure an excellent programme.

It is by far the best treatment ever brought into general use for coughs colds and hearsenees. When the first symptoms of a cold appear, use Chamberjain's Cough Remedy, and the cold can be broken up at once. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 Nerth Spring street.

Promptness is a good motte. It is hard to find anything more prompt than St. Patriok's Pffis. They are a pleasant cathartic and a good medicine. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 76 North Spring street.

Lock Out for it.

Hoarseness is the first symptom of croup.

By giving Chamberlain's Coupt Romedy freely as soon as a child becomes bearse it will prevent the croup, which can always be done to the croup, which can always be done to the least danger in giving it. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.
